This award recognizes a concerted public-private partnership between the business, industry or corporation and their local community college that is designed to stimulate increased worker training and/or retraining activity. The nominee will have demonstrated a commitment to support economic development in their community as well as the mission of community colleges in New York State and/or nationally. Use the following criteria to identify specifically what the contributions of this partnership have been to the college.

1. History

Provide, in one or two paragraphs, background on the industry or business being nominated. Describe the nature of the business or industry, whether it is a traditional or evolving field, and the reach and reputation of the business or industry on the local, regional, statewide, national, and/or global level. Include a brief overview of its involvement in the local community.

2. Focus

Explain, in one or two paragraphs, the motivation of the business or industry for its involvement at the community college. Describe the specific area of interest, technology, and/or training need that the business or industry chose to focus on and why. Include the goals that the business or industry had for this collaboration.

3. Involvement

Describe, in a maximum of three paragraphs, the specific role that the industry or organization has taken at the community college. Include a description of how the relationship between the college and the business or industry evolved, and over what length of time. Include examples of actions the business or industry has initiated in conjunction with the college.

4. Impact

Outline the specific ways in which the quality of education and/or services at the community college have been improved by this partnership. Describe, in a maximum of three paragraphs, the opportunities that the partnership has opened for students, faculty and/or the college. Indicate what additional benefits the college anticipates in the future as a result of this involvement (e.g., enrollment management, strategic planning, student success).

5. Success

Tell us how well this partnership has met the expectations of the college. If the college had specific goals for the collaboration, describe the success in meeting them, including any statistics or anecdotal information that supports the college's view of success.
